

Psigma AIM IHT Portfolio Service.

What is AIM?

AIM (formerly the Alternative Investment Market) is a sub-market of the London Stock Exchange that was launched on 19 June 1995. It allows smaller companies from both UK and across the globe to float shares with a more flexible regulatory system than is applicable to the main market. The attraction for investors being the potential growth of such businesses. Shares in companies quoted on AIM may be considered as 'unquoted shares' for the purpose of Business Relief (BR) however, of all the companies quoted, not all shares are eligible. AIM comprises of approximately 800 companies, approximately half of which are estimated to qualify for Business Relief (BR). An additional benefit of buying shares on the AIM is that the 0.5% stamp duty due on share purchases has been abolished, therefore reducing the cost of investing in AIM.

What is Psigma's AIM IHT Portfolio Service?

Psigma's AIM IHT Portfolio Service is a discretionary portfolio that aims to be invested entirely into Business Relief (BR) qualifying AIM quoted companies for the purposes of mitigating Inheritance Tax. Psigma's primary objective is not to track or beat a benchmark, but to protect and grow the capital invested over time.

Each AIM IHT Investment Portfolio will comprise of 20-30 qualifying holdings, diversified across a number of different sectors and earning streams. Our focus is on profitable, cash generating businesses with good balance sheets, investing in companies that have a well-established track record, and who have experienced management teams in place.

Our AIM Investment Team have over 35 years' collective experience investing in equity markets.

What is the minimum investment for a Psigma AIM IHT portfolio?

The minimum investment in the Psigma AIM IHT Portfolio Service is £100,000. We recommend that an AIM IHT portfolio should not represent more than 25% of a client's overall wealth.

Who could it be suitable for?

Psigma's AIM IHT Portfolio Service is designed for clients who wish to carry out IHT planning to reduce their Inheritance Tax liabilities, this service could be used to complement existing estate planning vehicles whilst allowing the client to retain ownership and control over their assets.

This service could also appeal to clients with ISA savings who wish to take advantage of the additional tax benefits of holding AIM securities within a tax free wrapper whilst reducing their Inheritance Tax Liability.

The Psigma AIM IHT Portfolio Service is a high risk investment strategy therefore this service is best suited to clients who are comfortable with higher risk investments.

Clients are subject to Psigma's suitability assessment to ensure that this type of portfolio is suitable for their personal circumstances.

We recommend that you seek guidance from an Independent Financial Adviser before investing in a portfolio of this nature.

An example of how AIM investing can save you inheritance tax

Client assets as at the date of death	IHT planning using AIM IHT portfolio	IHT planning without using AIM IHT planning
Value of total client assets	£2,000,000	£2,000,000
Value of AIM portfolio	£500,000	N/A
Net taxable amount after using nil rate band of £325k	£1,175,000	£1,675,000
IHT charge at 40%	£470,000	£670,000
Psigma initial charge	£0	N/A
Net estate value including AIM assets	£1,530,000	£1,330,000

Figures are calculated at the date of death and do not take into account any gifting, inter spousal nil rate band transfers or investment growth in the portfolio.

What is the time horizon?

Typically clients who are considering IHT planning will have shorter time horizons than Psigma would normally recommend for its other discretionary services. AIM investments that qualify for Business Relief must have been held for two years as at the date of death, investors could therefore have the ability to remove assets from their chargeable estate after just two years.

The Psigma AIM IHT Portfolio Service should be regarded as a high risk, long-term, multigenerational investment with a time horizon that suits the personal circumstances of the investor.

ISA

AIM quoted shares are also eligible for investment within a Stocks and Shares ISA wrapper. All shares invested within a Stocks and Shares ISA are free from Income and Capital Gains Tax.

Holding AIM shares in an ISA has not always been possible and the Government could change these rules in the future.

What are the potential tax benefits?

Under the current tax rules set by HMRC in the UK, any qualifying shares in AIM quoted companies can be removed from a deceased estate for Inheritance Tax purposes. The investor must have held the qualifying asset for at least two years on the date of death and the company in which the investment is held must have maintained its qualifying status. This also applies where AIM quoted shares are transferred to an investor by way of a lifetime gift within the previous seven years where the asset has been held for at least two years on the date of the investors death.

It is worth noting that Psigma is not restricted to holding the same investment for the entire two year period and can sell a holding and reinvest the proceeds into another qualifying stock without resetting the two year holding period.

Tax treatment depends on individual circumstances and could become less attractive if the tax rules were to change in the future.

Key Risks

- Psigma AIM IHT Portfolio should be regarded as a higher risk, long-term investment. Also please be aware that a portfolio of this type may not be suitable for all investors.
- The tax relief available may change at any time. Each company's eligibility for BR is subject to HMRC approval at the time of death.
- AIM company shares can be less liquid than their larger counterparts in the FTSE 100 and 250 indices.
- Many AIM quoted companies have smaller management teams and, as such, the loss of any one individual may have a material impact on the prospects of a company. They may also have fewer product ranges or a more concentrated customer base, which could potentially leave it more vulnerable to sudden changes in market conditions.
- An AIM-quoted company may elect to move up to the main market or de-list from AIM, in which case BR would cease following the transition.
- You should only invest in the Psigma AIM IHT Portfolio if you have financial security independent of any investment made.
- Psigma also does not guarantee the timescale for fully investing portfolios or that portfolios will be fully invested at all times in the future.

POTENTIAL INVESTORS SHOULD BE AWARE THAT TAX RULES ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE. IN ORDER TO ENSURE THAT THE PSIGMA AIM IHT PORTFOLIO IS SUITABLE FOR YOU, YOU SHOULD TAKE ADVICE FROM AN INDEPENDENT FINANCIAL ADVISER
